Title and abstract of the doctoral thesis (within 150 words)Graphical direction in the interpretation of Alusi
Through Al-Baqarah

This study deals with one of the prominent trends in the interpretation is: the graphical direction (the meaning of science) when a prominent imam of the Imams of interpretation is the Imam Al-Alusi, and only through Al-Baqarah.

The letter consists of an introduction, a preamble, three chapters and a conclusion.

The researcher addressed in the introduction: the importance of this study and its objectives and limits, and the approach to be adopted, and previous studies in this area and research plan.

The researcher talked about (the introduction) on the diversity of trends of interpretation, defined by the graphical direction and its various sciences, and its importance in the Qur'anic studies.

The researcher discussed in the first chapter of the first chapter of this study the definition of Imam Al-Alusi through his personal and scientific life, reviewing his efforts and effects printed and non-printed, standing on the political and cultural situation in his era in which he was found.

In the second section, the definition of the book of Imam Al-Alusi under study (the spirit of meanings in the interpretation of the great Koran and the seven vesicles), through the general description of the book, and talk about some of the prominent trends in it such as linguistic, nodal, doctrinal, and others.

The researcher talked about the place of this interpretation among the known explanatory encyclopedias.

The second chapter was to talk about the issues of miracles and rhetoric when this imam.

In the first section, the researcher addressed the position of Imam Al-Alusi on the issues of the Quranic miracles by reviewing the most important previous efforts of the miracle scientists. Then show the faces of the Quranic miracle at this imam.

In the second section, the study dealt with rhetoric in the interpretation of (the spirit of meanings) through the presentation of Alusi rhetorical topics and sources, and then dealt with the most important features of his approach in issues of rhetoric.

The third chapter was the backbone of this study. The researcher addressed in the first topic: the applications of Imam al-Alusi rhetorical on the various subjects (science meanings) through the Sura orbit research Where the researcher introduced these topics, reviewing the positions of scientists and related to them, inferred and representative of what came when Alusi on these topics, a discussion in the areas of discussion, and an analysis of his views on these topics.

The second topic dealt with the scientific value of the issues of meanings in the interpretation under study, by reviewing the controls by which the scientific value of any scientific and intellectual output is measured, indicating the extent to which these measures apply to the efforts of the Al-Alusi rhetorical rhetoric.

Then the researcher presented the most important observations and drawbacks to these rhetorical issues when this imam

In conclusion, the researcher presented the most important findings and recommendations reached by his study.
